

Getting Started with the Framework for Family Engagement

Family Engagement
in Systems Change

Getting Started with the Framework for Family Engagement

Commit to family engagement.

Create a family engagement policy that sets the expectation for engaging families as partners in all policy-making groups.

Build trust by being transparent.

Work with families to develop the information and support they need to participate and contribute as equal partners.

Understand why representation matters.

Engage families who represent the diversity of the community your organization serves.

Document the impact of family engagement.

Work with families to report how their participation and ideas improved existing policies or helped in developing new policies.

Plan, assess and improve family engagement.

Download the complete set of Family Engagement in Systems Assessment Tools from Family Voices (familyvoices.org/FESAT). Contact our team for more information or to train your team on the tools by emailing fesat@familyvoices.org.