Financial Support for Conference Registration

Various organizations you are affiliated with may be willing to pay for your conference registration if your attendance can enrich the work you do together. When developing a letter to seek support from an organization, you will want to include:

- Your name and role with the organization
- Details about FVLC that relate to the organization's mission
 - Event name and date, registration fee amount, registration deadline
 - Audience and purpose for FVLC2026
- How your attendance at FVLC will enhance your work with the organization
- A request for funding and method of payment accepted

Letter Template

You can adapt the letter below to send to your organization leaders.

Dear [name],

I am writing to request financial support for my registration for the 2026 Family Voices Leadership Conference on April 13-16, 2026.

The theme of the 2026 Family Voices Leadership Conference is Our Voices, Our Stories: Centering Children and Families in Systems of Care. The conference brings together family and youth leaders, Family Voices Affiliate Organizations, patient and family advisors, and other professional partners and stakeholders from across the country, including US territories and tribal nations. The conference offers more than 20 virtual workshops that build the capacity of youth and family leaders who participate at decision-making tables related to special health care needs and disabilities.

Attending this conference will support my ability to [insert goals or roles] with [organization].

If you are interested in promoting the work we do together at [organization], you might also consider sponsoring this conference. Details on sponsorship opportunities can be found at familyvoices.org/FVLC2026.

Please note that the registration fee is [amount] and must be paid by April 13, 2026, using a credit card or check.

Sincerely,

[your name and role]
